

2021 CIFA SRF Workshop

Economy and Municipal Markets: Thursday, September 9, 3:00 – 4:30 pm (ET)

Economic Outlook: Trends, Opportunities and Challenges

Learn how current fiscal policy may impact municipal markets, why America is in the “Golden Age” for public finance, and what’s next for infrastructure investment in the markets and in Congress.

Meet the Speakers

Anne Burger Entekin, Hilltop Securities

Anne Burger Entekin is Regional Managing Director of Hilltop Securities. She provides financial advisory and consulting services to numerous state agencies, cities, state revolving funds, utility systems, special districts, river authorities, counties, school districts and college districts. During the past five years, she has served as financial advisor on more than $9 billion in par amount of debt instruments that has included multi-year, billion dollar capital improvement programs, complex restructurings, variable rate debt, conduit financings, utility acquisitions, and start-ups. She has expertise in structures and debt issuances related to the State Revolving Fund Act, the Water Quality Act, and the Drinking Water Act, American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (“ARRA”) as well as extensive experience with pool and leveraged pooled programs and financings.

Tom Kozlik, Hilltop Securities

Tom Kozlik is the Head of Strategy and Credit at HilltopSecurities. He publishes regular commentary and is a presence on social and traditional media for the firm. Kozlik brings over two decades of experience to the position, most recently with PNC Capital Markets where he served as managing director and municipal strategist. Prior to joining PNC, he was managing director and municipal credit analyst at Janney Montgomery Scott. In addition to his roles with PNC and Janney, Kozlik has also held positions with Bear Stearns and UBS in public finance banking.

From 2018 to 2020, Smith’s Research and Gradings included Kozlik on the first-team in the Generalist category of its Municipal All-Star Team. In 2020, Smith’s also included Kozlik on the third-team in the Sellside Director of Research category of its Municipal All-Star Team. He was voted to Institutional Investor's All-America Fixed Income Research Team and Greenwich Associates named him one of the Most Helpful Analysts in Municipal Bonds. In addition, he is a founding officer and former president of the Philadelphia Area Municipal Analysts Society (PhAMAS). Kozlik is also a member of the Society of Municipal Analysts. He is also an advisor to the Government Finance Officers Association's committee on government debt management. Kozlik has also taught graduate-level public finance courses at the University of Pennsylvania's Fels Institute of Government, where he earned a Master of Government Administration. He earned a bachelor's degree in political science with honors from Pennsylvania State University Scholars program.